

DNA probe for the detection of arbuscular endomycorrhizal fungi

The present invention relates to oligonucleotide probes useful for determining the presence in a sample of arbuscular endomycorrhizal fungi. These probes are derived from nuclear genes coding for ribosomal RNA of arbuscular endomycorrhizal fungi.
