

Zipper protein kinase

The present invention relates to a cell growth inhibitor, a mitogen-activated protein kinase kinase kinase (MLK), and a method of modulating, reducing or suppressing, the growth of target cells by administrating the MLK under form of protein or a nucleic acid sequence comprised in an expression vector.
